Competition week: Hubert van der Spuy National Music Competition 16 - 20 September 2024

The annual Hubert van der Spuy National Music Competition, this year in its 35th year, has undoubtedly become one of the highlights on the music scene for young prodigies. Our 35 year celebration will be marked by a new collaboration with the Stellenbosch University Music Department.

Words from Professor Mario Nell, chairperson of the Stellenbosch University Music Department:

“The Stellenbosch University Music Department is the oldest institution of its kind in South Africa, and boasts a proud tradition, spanning more than a century, of dedication to music education, the performing arts, creative work and academic research. The Hubert van der Spuy National Music Competition's commitment to identify, develop and provide public exposure to our country's outstanding young generation of classical musicians, fit hand in glove with the Music Department's commitment to reach out further into the school-going ages, and foster such young talents.”

Words from chairperson of the Tygerberg branch of the South African Society of Music Teachers, Hilda Boonzaier:

“We are extremely excited for this milestone year of the Hubert van der Spuy National Music Competition. Celebrating 35 years is no small feat! We are utterly thrilled with the quality of entries and the diversity of instruments received from students across South Africa and Namibia. We wish everyone the very best as they prepare for our competition week.

We are proud to announce our new collaboration with Stellenbosch University Music Department. The beautiful Endler Hall will be our home from 16-20 September 2024. This collaboration will indeed introduce a new chapter to the rich history of our competition.”

The Hubert van der Spuy National Music Competition is organised and presented by the Tygerberg branch of the South African Society of Music Teachers (SASMT). The first competition took place in 1989. Prof Hubert van der Spuy - former chairperson of the SASMT (Tygerberg Branch) and widely respected music educator, inspired the competition.

Dr Marlene le Roux serves as patron of the Hubert van der Spuy National Music Competition since 2019. Dr Marlene le Roux is a South African disability and women's rights activist, co-founder of the Women's Achievement Network for Disability, and CEO of the Artscape Theatre Centre in Cape Town.
